LAFF LINES

He Prefers Cash
T.H. husband and wife had finished an excellent meal in the exclusive restaurant. A bill for five dollars was presented, and the husband suddenly remembered leaving his wallet at home.

The waiter summoned the proprietor. The husband explained the situation. "I must have left my wallet in another suit," he asserted. "Can you wait while I go home for the money? I'll leave my wife here as security."

The proprietor coughed slightly. "I beg your pardon," he suggested. "I haven't got a watch or a ring you could leave as a deposit instead."

The husband looked up angrily. "Sir," he demanded, "are you in the habit of taking my wife in for nothing?"

The proprietor bowed. "Not at all," he murmured. "But I already have a wife."

"What would happen if we struck a big iceberg?" asked the nervous passenger.

"The iceberg would go along with us," the captain answered. "The passenger sighed with relief."

Angels Have Wings

A LITTLE GIRL was put into an upper berth in a Pullman for the first time. She kept whimpering until her mother told her not to be afraid because the angels were watching over her.

"Mother, are you there?" she cried plaintively.

"Yes, dear."

"And a few minutes later: 'Daddy, are you there?'"

"Yes, dear."

"Well, passenger lost all patience at that point and belted: 'We're all here! Your mother and daddy and brothers and sisters and aunts and uncles and cousins! All here! Now go to sleep!'"

There was a pause, then very softly: "Mother?"

"Was that one of the angels?"

"Yes, dear."

"Well, dear, what do they predict?" his mother asked.

"They haven't decided yet," the youngster replied gloomily.

"Haven't decided?"

"No. It says 'Unsettled.'"

"In a Bad Way"

Old Mrs. Migges managed to get along in the world despite her educational deficiencies. One day she was called upon by a lawyer to sign an important document.

"You sign it yourself, sir, and I'll make me mark," said Mrs. Migges. "Since me eyes gave out I'm not able to write a word."

"How do you spell it?" asked the lawyer, his pen poised above the document.

"Spell it whatever way ye please," said Mrs. Migges. "Since I lost me eyes, I'm not a word I can spell."

"He Expects Too Much"

"Say, sonny, that dog of yours bit me on the ankle."

"Well, shucks, that's as high as he can reach. You wouldn't expect a little pup like that to bite you on the neck, would you?"

"Fit for a King"

With a haughty air the elderly woman entered the jeweler's shop and settled herself in a chair. Then she inspected the youthful assistant through her lorgnette and said, coldly: "I want a present fit for a king but it must be inexpensive."

The young man's desire to help went several steps so far as he suggested briefly: "Well, madam, what about a tin of metal polish to clean his crown?"

"TORCH BEARER"

Curious Civilian—is it true that wild beasts in the jungle won't harm you if you carry a torch?

Pacific Veteran—That all depends on how fast you carry it.

Brotherly Love

"So you and your neighbor are not on speaking terms?"

"No. He sent me a can of oil to use on my lawnmower when I started to cut the grass at 6 in the morning."

"And what did you do?"

"Sent it back and told him to use it on his wife when she started singing at 11 p. m."

Handy Sample

A shy young fellow was trying to choose some lipstick for his girl. He was completely at a loss as to the shade. Suddenly his face lighted up; he slipped out a handkerchief and pointed to a crimson smudge on it.

"There," he exclaimed happily, "that's the shade."

Financial Genius

George: If I could get someone to invest a hundred bucks in a stock I have I could make a lot of money.

George: How much would you like to invest?

George: A hundred bucks.

STATE OF ALABAMA

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama, at the Regular Session of 1947, ordered an election to be held by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama

Sweet Potatoes

Ran McCollough was exhibiting some huge sweet potatoes Monday. Three potatoes dug from one hill, weighed 22 pounds, and the largest of the trio weighed nine and three-quarter pounds.

Mr. McCollough says he has three acres of unusually large potatoes on his father's old home place in the Pleasant Ridge community about nine miles north of Elba. He says they are so big and numerous he can't estimate the number of pounds or tons they will yield. According to Mr. McCollough, his and George Morris' experience with the boll weevil was very satisfactory and the past season they raised so much cotton they could hardly get it all picked. However, he explains, the boll weevil catcher won't fatten his hogs, so he and Mr. Morris have diverted their attention to the raising of sweet potatoes. In other words, they believe in diversified farming.

Blessing In Disguise

Mayor Mullins along with other citizens of the community have always felt that the presence of Beaver Dam Creek in Elba was more or less of a nuisance, but recently it has proved to be a blessing in disguise. The sewer main in front of the old Dr. Braxwell home became stopped up and Earpest Owen, in charge of the city sewage construction and maintenance was tapping the line with a hammer when the pipe gave way and the sewage began escaping under great pressure. Mr. Owen got a none too pleasant shower bath before the sewage could be diverted into the creek. Water from the canal was turned into the creek to sweep it into Pen River. Nuisance or not, Mayor Mullins says Beaver Dam creek is rendering a vital service to a large portion of the city's population at the present time.

The sewer main was found to contain some 15 feet of sand. It will be removed and the line repaired as early as possible.

Kills Marauders

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Folsom had been missing hens from time to time until their flock of ten had dwindled to four or five. On Monday night they heard a disturbance in their poultry house and upon investigation found two large possums wreaking havoc upon their hens. Mr. Folsom shot mamma and pappa possum. He found the possum headquarters under some brush in a fence corner. Bob was seen in town the next day displaying the proceeds of his nights slaying activities.

Hunters Should Help

Forest Ranger W. J. Conaway, with the Department of Conservation, division of forestry, informs us that there always more fires during hunting season. Mr. Conaway calls attention to the fact that unburned forests provide homes for our game and it is to the hunters interest to help preserve the woodland. He urges all hunters to take extra precautions with matches, cigarettes and campfires.

Old Clipper

J. D. Smith who makes a hobby of keeping records, showed us an old issue of the Clipper dated October 24, 1913. It had gone through the flood of 1929 and was considerably damaged but was still readable. The Clipper files were destroyed by the flood and this old copy is one of the few surviving dated prior to that time.

The reason Mr. Smith has preserved this old copy is that it contains an account of his marriage. He and Miss Ethel Farris were married on October 22, 1913 the ceremony being solemnized at the Methodist Church with the pastor of the Baptist church, Rev. D. P. Lee officiating. It is said to be one of the first if not the first wedding held in the then new church.

Convey Mays was the best man and Misses Alice Boyd and Euborn Farris were bridesmaids. L. W. English and Marlon Dunn served as ushers, Mrs. F. T. Rainer presided at the organ and R. C. Bryan was groomsmen.

Many out-of-town visitors were present for the event.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Jack Mitchell

Mrs. Jack Mitchell died at her home on Samson Rd. 2, November 2, following an illness of 3 weeks. She was a member of the Baptist church. She was born in Coffee County and was a pioneer resident and a highly esteemed citizen.

Surviving are: one son, P. M. Mitchell, four daughters, Mrs. Coline Miller, Mrs. Ailie V. Gieson, and Mrs. Ruth Allen; two brothers, Bud and Jack Morgan; four sisters, Mrs. Lill Coleman, Mrs. Lizzie Jennings, Mrs. Tal Jennings and Mrs. Gayle Mitchell.

Funeral services were held at the home Monday, November 1, conducted by Rev. A. E. Sebastian, of Fort Smith, Arkansas, and Rev. Huey Ziglar, Fall Bearer, were members of Culver Post 72, Dozier Roberts, Sonny Tinnan, Cleo Hawkins, Albert Sauls, Kinney Dorsey and Marshall Reddick.

Interment was in the Pleasant Ridge cemetery with Hayes Funeral Home in charge.

She was blasted out of the war by the British Air Force in 1944. Sixteen blockbusters slammed her silly. One of them, exploding in nearby shallow water, set up reverberations that flipped the 45,000 ton battleship over and simply as a child upon his bath tub boat.

Four years later the ship looks like a brown, bloated whale bobbing up. Up close an observer can see men scrambling over the hull, taking tools down through a hole in her bottom, and bringing out valuable equipment.

Salvagers have already got out and sold one diesel engine. Now they are extracting miles of valuable copper wire. In one compartment they discovered a ill, was in for more trouble too.

In court his wife slapped his face because she said she found another woman's picture in his wallet. After the arraignment, Davis found his car had been stolen.

A grove bought the bulk for only $8,000. Their first haul put them in the black. The Norwegian government let the prize go for this trifling sum—the ship cost millions of dollars—because the less it received for the Tirpitz the less money was deducted from its claims for war damages against Germany.

H. K. Daniels Drowns In White Water Creek Saturday Afternoon

H. K. Daniels, 19 year old Elba resident, was drowned in White Water Creek about four o'clock last Saturday afternoon while chasing a hog with a dog. The hog and dog had crossed the creek and Daniels drowned while attempting to cross.

According to an account of the tragedy given by Daniel's father-in-law, Ellis Adkins, he, Daniels, and Mr. Adkins son had been chasing the hog with a dog. The dog had caught hold of the hog and hog and dog both had swam across the creek. Young Adkins crossed the creek in pursuit and Daniels had started across with a rope. Mr. Adkins said he saw Daniels out in the creek with his head and shoulders above the water, and supposed he was making his way all right. He turned around and when he turned his attention to the water again Daniels had disappeared and he saw him no more.

Mr. Adkins said he gave the alarm and a search was made for the missing man. The creek was dragged but it was not until about nine o'clock that night that the body was found and recovered in about eight feet of water. The drowning occurred back on Smith Avenue.

It is supposed that Daniels became overheated while chasing the hog and that when he plunged into the cold water he became paralyzed. When he was found his arms and legs were in cramped positions.

Daniels was a young farmer and had been married only a short time. He resided near Pea River east of Smith Avenue. He was born in Henry County on Dec. 9, 1928, son of Eliza Anderson Daniel and W. T. Daniel. He was a GI and a member of Culver Post 72, the American Legion.

Surviving are his parents; his widow, Mrs. W. K. Daniel; one brother, William Thomas Daniel and two sisters, Mrs. Maudie Re Spurlin and Mrs. Jessie Mae Knotts.

Funeral services were held at the home Monday, November 1, conducted by Rev. A. E. Sebastian, of Fort Smith, Arkansas, and Rev. Huey Ziglar, Fall Bearer, were members of Culver Post 72, Dozier Roberts, Sonny Tinnan, Cleo Hawkins, Albert Sauls, Kinney Dorsey and Marshall Reddick.
